Hey Gary, hope you had a good weekend. Just wanted to let you know, I thought about it over the weekend, and I’m definitely up for going to Nike/Slusher for some justice, if you still are? I’d like to nail these corrupt EYBL execs, send them packing! Let me know.

Jeff ur right I want some justice this isn’t right I’ve spent 14 yrs grinding, building needing loyal to the Nike brand b4 any of those guys got in position and for them to make up lies it’s unjust and the corruption they pulled to get me out has hurt my business brand bcuz of personal issue which had not to with me.
Good to hear. So, to confirm, you're ready for me to contact John Slusher and Nike, on your behalf, to inform Nike that you and the CA Supreme program, an 11+ year Nike EYBL Program, with an impeccable track record and success, have been irreparably harmed by rogue Nike EYBL executives who have bullied, abused, cheated and lied, while participating in collusion, fraud and corruption; introduced “handlers” with a criminal records procuring players illegally, to your program, an unscrupulous parent who self-funded the recruitment of a top player, and strong armed you into participating in these executives unsavory schemes to their professional and personal benefit, and CA Supreme’s total detriment. In spite of all the harm and damage these few rogue Nike EYBL executives have caused you and your program, and because of the 11+ years of success with Nike, you remain loyal to the company. That said, you want “justice above all else,” and so you are turning to the company first, in an effort to expose the illicit behavior bestowed on you and CA Supreme by certain rogue Nike EYBL executives, with the hope Nike Corporate will do the right thing and swiftly take action. If not, your plan is to go to the FBI in the next 5-10 days to expose everything that has transpired and seek the justice you deserve and to stop these rogue Nike EYBL executives from further criminal behavior and harming or bullying others. Please confirm that you want me to proceed as outlined above.

Good to hear. So, to confirm, you’re ready for me to contact John Slusher and Nike, on your behalf, to inform Nike, you and your CA Supreme program, an 11+ year Nike EYBL Program, with an impeccable track record and much success, have been irreparably harmed by certain rogue Nike EYBL executives who bullied, abused, cheated and lied, while participating in collusion, fraud and corruption; and introduced “handlers” with criminal records (procuring players illegally), strong-armed you to accept an unscrupulous parent who self-funded the recruitment to secure a top player, and threatened CA Supreme’s future with Nike in an effort to bully you to participate in these rogue EYBL executives’ unsavory schemes, solely to their professional and personal benefit and CA Supreme’s detriment. In spite of all the harm and damage these rogue EYBL executives have caused you personally and the CA Supreme program, and because of your 11+ years of success with Nike, you remain loyal to the company. That said, you want “justice” above all else, and so you’re now turning to Nike first, in an effort to expose the illicit acts and behavior bestowed on you and your program by these certain rogue Nike EYBL executives, with the hope Nike Corporate will do the right thing and swiftly take action, investigate and fire these rogue Nike EYBL executives, who have no place in youth and amateur basketball. If not, your plan is to go directly to the FBI within the next 5-10 days to expose everything that’s transpired and seek the justice you deserve and stop further corruption and harm to others (and the sport) by these rogue Nike EYBL executives. Please confirm that you want me to proceed as outlined above.

Got it. Makes sense, even though it would be such an extremely petty act by them, given the stakes, we know petty is their specialty.
